The Alfie Squires BECTU Educational Bursary

Alfie Squires was a larger-than-life and much-loved NATTKE and BETA activist, who died at a tragically early age in July 1990. He had striven tirelessly for the creation of BECTU through the amalgamation of ACTT and BETA, which took place six months later. Alfie was posthumously made the first Honorary Member of BECTU.

In his memory the National Executive Committee of BECTU makes available each year the sum of £5000 for bursaries towards trade union-related education for BECTU members, particularly those in difficult circumstances. Awards are made at the discretion of the NEC, and are intended as a contribution towards course fees and books. Applicants seeking a sum of money which leaves further assistance available to other members may receive preference. Note that assistance is not available for vocational training.
